

June 2020

Dear Parents:

It's hard to believe it's already the midpoint of the summer! We hope you and your family have had a chance to rest and relax, and that everyone is staying healthy and safe. Here at Presentation, we're hard at work getting ready for the next school year--and we're getting really excited about seeing your daughters in August!

These past several months have been tough for our community for many reasons. Like many of you, we are saddened and frustrated by the violence and hatred in our country and in our city, and we pray for and work towards a peaceful solution to these injustices. As we prepare to welcome all of our students back in August, we affirm that black lives do matter; that racism and injustice will not be tolerated in our hallways and classrooms; that we welcome the opportunity to learn from all of our students' experiences; and that we will continue to work together as a school community to find nonviolent, constructive ways to fight the injustices that so often surround us. We look forward to having our students back in the building in August to continue this work and these conversations.

As you're also aware, we're in the midst of a once-in-a-century pandemic. In March, we shifted to online instruction, and although that went well, we're working really hard to be ready for in-person instruction in August. We formed a committee that has been hard at work to make sure everyone can return to school and remain safe and healthy. Come August, school will not look the same way it did in March, but we're excited to be physically together again. Within this mailing, you'll find a quick summary of the changes you and your daughter can expect this August. More detailed instructions will arrive in July.

You'll also find the following items in this mailing--please read through everything carefully:
